Day 03: DAY 3: ACCRA - KUMASI

Breakfast at Labadi Beach Hotel. Meet your English Speaking Guide and set off for the Ashanti Region to visit the Manhyia Palace, The Manhyia Palace is the seat of the Asantehene of Asanteman, as well as his official residence. It is located at Kumasi, the capital of the Ashanti Kingdom and Ashanti Region. Manhyia Palace was built by the British in 1925 to receive Prempeh I when he returned from a quarter of a century of exile in the Seychelles to resume residence in Kumasi. It was used by the Ashanti kings until 1974; the current Asantehene now lives in a modern compound behind the museum. Also witness the Awukudae Festival, a durbar of Chiefs and Elders paying homage to the Asantehene. Awukudae Festival meaning: "Wednesday ceremony", is a traditional Ashanti festival in Ashanti. Like the Akwasidae Festival, celebrated on a Sunday, Awukudae is part of the celebrations within the Adaye Festival cycle. The festivals of Adaye are not interchangeable, having been fixed from ancient times End the day at the Kumasi Cultural Centre, which offers a good account of the rich Ghanaian culture, provides evidence of the Ashanti Kingdom's eminent past. It houses the Prempeh II Jubilee museum, which provides a fascinating collection of Asante's history. O/N: Golden Tulip Kumasi City Hotel 4* (FB) Executive Room
